A CALL TO ACTION
STOMP OUT THE MARIJUANA LAWS FOREVER

OK, all you motherfuckers. We know that you're smoking more grass than a prairie fire. We're also wise that all you cocksuckers — 1000's of you — are rehabilitating your lungs under conditions of agitation, metaphysical distress, fuzzi-fear, & paranoid! Time is NOW for a TOTAL ASSAULT ON THE MARIJUANA LAWS! It is CLEAR to us that the cockroach theory of grass smoking has to be abandoned. INTO THE OPEN! ALL THOSE WHO SUCK UP THE BENEFICIAL NARCOTIC CANNABIS, TEAMSHUN! FORWARD, WITH MIND DIALS POINTED: ASSAULT! We have the facts! Cannabis is a non-addictive gentle peace drug! The Marijuana legislations were pushed through in the 1930's by the agents and goonsquads of the jansenist-manichean fuckhaters' conspiracy. Certainly, after 50 years of the blight, it is time to rise up for a bleep bloop bleep assault on the social screen. The fact IS that 1000's of you exist all over the whole fucking U.S. scene. But we can't wait forever for you grass cadets to pull the takeover: grass-freak senators, labor leaders, presidents, etc. The Goon Squad is few and we are many. We must spray our message into the million lobed American brain IMMEDIATELY! If there's public hysteria, we'll pull the classic-Guerrilla lovefare — enemy attack/retreat enemy retreat/attack—scene! At least we'll be in the OPEN, operating through our many channels and connections, gobbling away at the foundations of the laws. Gobble Gobble! INTO THE OPEN MOOTHERFUUUKKEERRRRRS!

What is needed, first, then is the classic petitioning; a huge validpetition to be sent to the federal, state, & municipal, governments—names to include the weighty and prestigious as well as all the nascent stoners on the set — signed by all those who smoke or approve. Then, Guerrilla lovefare zap attack zone offices to plan the public presentation, public witness aspects of Operation Grass. Contacts with newspapers, the mass media, letters and phone campaigns. An intelligent sensitive public campaign to present the facts, the testimonies of legal and medical authorities, and so forth. Fringe attacks: pot-ins at governmental headquarters, public forums and squawking, poster walks, hemp farm disobedience. In New York: with a number too large & prestigious to ignore, a multi-thousand joint lightup on the steps of city hall---- FORWARD! THIS IS OPERATION GRASS!

Hemp is the WAY! We demand the "holy weed marijuana" under our own judgement:
When a law is useless when a law is degrading when it prohibits the right to a gentle healthful pleasure,

DISOBEY!!

For The Ghost of Hart Crane

Again, the rustling of a piece of toilet-paper summons you back, bringing you pacing & fidgeting down the long cell-blocks of cubicles, trying the doors or pretending to be looking for a nickel until suddenly, your few seconds up, the automatic flushing system unleashes, discharging you back into your drowning.

stay back there & forget me-- forget this system their pumping refills, this stillness already being baited with fresh rustlings. Hart, Walt Whitman
I lost
Tears again last nite Screwed out of Heaven by a bitter face with eyeglasses and a nightstuck
Waving Death over America

Walt Whitman, the fuzz is making Fate the masses are terrified No comrade walks the road over mountains overlooks the old metropolis from under your vast Hat—

I was trying to get the Prince to wake up!
O California
O soup of anxiety!

circa 1960)
HARRY FAINLIGHT

Le Poète a Quatorze Ans

A hand, from flicking away the cooling, Liquifying sperm on it, still raised
Out there in the darkness, he listened, straining:

"Surely, if we're always this awake We would soon arrive at it—the Truth Which starts all around us with its weeping angels."

Slowly down his mother's newly polished cupboard
The heavy drops were rolling. One had hit a mirror.
Another was winding its way down the grotesquely carved leg of a chair."
Mescaline Notes

Strange how I feel it is already morning, though outside adolescents are making evening sounds. Useless murmur of voices fading into echo - A breeze smelling of some new puberty. Blackness dropping its apocryphal flares...

The hell within a negative: throats, nostrils and all orifices glow with an unearthly inward burning. That powder I took was manufactured there - teeth grinding down the X-ray plates they clench.

The agony encircles itself. This IS the agony.

The montage gets too complex here. The film splits open with screams of laughter, its writhings left as smoke coiling in the projector's beam.

I have writhed away my sheets and blankets. Now I am writhing my way through into the stuffing of the mattress.

Everything is happening too fast for my brain to reverse it. GOD IS PHOTOGRAPHING ME UPSIDE DOWN.

Geoffrey can you hear me? Heroic space adrift... The beauty of my particles.

As I begin to sing I throw my pen away. Someone will find it.

Cicadas in the grass and stars Singing at the roots of universes.

II

The adolescents have quietened down and it is a long time later. I have realized that I am inside God's head and am half hoping, half dreading that I am about to live through a night of the birth pangs of spiritual birth. My mind is full of dark jaws that in the process of chewing infinitely multiply themselves. When I turn off the light the jaws will continue.

Apollo's muscle switches off the light.

Bored voice of guide opening onto Halls of His Metabolism... "We are standing at the moment within an exact reconstruction of Jonah's echo chamber."
Faintly, the DynaMaya begins to hum...

Objects break open into hallucinations;
Forgotten mosaics bursting from beneath the crops.

AH, but as they multiply, I realize these are the scales of the serpent himself. Smiling, an image of the person who gave me the drug, breaks open into replicas, the replicas undulating in monstrous coils.

Yes, each of my buttocks is one of those lights that go round and round the 42nd St. moviehouses.

Twinkle, twinkle, little sea,
This is more than stellar gas.

I am lying on top of another long after an orgasm;
An exhausted swimmer clinging to the greater buoyancy of a corpse.

There is no nonsense now about the way in which the insight is delivered. Wham! There it is on the dumbwaiter; smelling as strongly of shark-gut as that dished up to Rilke on the ninth wave.

A light bulb floating in mid-ocean is virtually indestructible.
Across an outdoor cinema screen flaps a heavy unidentified bird.

III

My mattress as a model of my mind:
My writhings have completely bared it, showing the letters BMC covering the whole thing in a chain mail of alphabet, however, just where my arms and shoulders are this has been pert split, part worn away, revealing a grey wadding-like substance. Through a hole in it where there was once one of those mattress buttons, I stick my finger. Inside it feels like coarse horsecloth or raffia. Below that the sudden thrill of a bare wire. Then nothing. Void, emptiness as far as my finger will reach down. But then, oh! The other side. Wire...hair... and again soft wadding. I am home.

Alas, home. The sad smallness of revisiting scenes of childhood (the child shrunken to a mummy, the mummy to a mattress even?). The same states of headache and nausea I started with again are with me. My hope clings to the image of a birdlike or reptilian birth. This aching head the egg the night had laid and from which something still may be born.

This headache is the scream to be rescued of some princess locked in a tower of my mind I have not yet found my way to. Hurry!
Ah, how little I am advancing. Already I am imagining how I will impress my friends with pieces from this journal. Feeding my pursuers with pieces of myself to gain time. Hurry! Hurry! In the crack between two thoughts, the cockroach of genius disappears.

I suppose it has come to this because at some point during the night I chose literature instead. Though the choice was implicit merely in keeping this journal. And this is just what literature is: an added birth, something thwarted from its ends, an essentially unnatural thing.

Outside, it is lightening. The first dry ratchet catches in the throat of a bird, then cogwheel flintily catching cogwheel, the day begins to move.

The Dawn is whealing its huge refuse cart.
Dead snakes and drag-queen dresses, the claw of a huge unidentified bird and the arm of a statue all trailing from it or hanging over the sides.
On top, a monster egg is nested in a torn open mattress, above them, like the sail of a primitive vessel, a patched-up cinema screen.

...a breeze smelling of some new puberty.

Feed it the rich protein of sleep.

Un Chant d’amour

Shepherd descend from the sky where sleep your sheep!
(To the dawn of a shepherd beauteous Winter I give you over) If your sex under my breath is still covered with frost Down will loose it from that fragile dress

Is it a matter of loving at sunrise?
In the throats of the herdsmen their songs still sleep Let us raise our curtains on that marble scenery;
Your dear bewildered face is sprinkled with sleep

O your favor crushes me and I sink Noble vessel dressed for the wedding of the Islands With the night. Yard arm! Particular insult O my dark Continent my deep mourning’s dress!

A moment outside God rage in clusters of gold (He breathes and falls asleep) relieved to emit you Helped by your hand I believe I see the sky come down And lay its white gloves tenderly upon your eyes

Above all it’s its sweetness that isolates you and spills
On your delicate forehead this rain of November What shadow what Africa envelopes your limbs Twilight of the dawn inhabited by a serpent!

Waitz leaf in reverse and misguided mists You tie flower of the wind this scarf to what tree?
My finger creases the frost of the wood of your harp Daughter of rushes standing upright in the separated hairs

In the brim of my cup a sprig of hazelnut Hooked askew titillates me my ear In your neck I hear a bird who sputters
And my horses sleep standing up in the footpath

Caressing the heedless eye the shoulder of the sea (My sandal is soaked unstitched the wing) I feel my hand swollen under your moss-grown heat Filled with the white herds invisible in the air

My lambs are going to graze from your haunch to your neck Browning on a savory grass and broiled by the sun
Some blossoms of the seacia are rumbling around in your voice Goes the bee to steal the honey of their echoes

But the green pavilion of the rovers of the sea Must be taken care of somewhere, be stretched up with the poles Shake out the night, the blue, powder your shoulders with it Drill fountains of air in your sandy feet To drag me up naked on blue flights of stairs again Solomon and fumbling in these waves of dreams Tired of perishing perpetually upon the very brink of my lips
The Horizon fell asleep in your folded arms

Your naked arms are going to whisper my night to pieces Damien these black horses disembowel the water’s depths Galloping carry me off contours foiled from the womb Arms of a negro who dies if sleep flees from me

I’ve embellished their nostrils with ribbons with roses With hair too from despoiled girls I’ve wanted to caress their sunlit coat With my arms elongated above the rivulet!

Your reattive shoulder has thrown off my hand It’s dying desolate on my docile wrist Hands that hastens vainly lopped off, but more agile (The five fingers of a thief with crimson nails)

So many hands at the edge of the roads and the woods Close to your neck it used to love to live naked But become almost a monster to your eyes On my hand the heel I’ll kiss your fingers

Shot down by surprise a soldier smiled at me
From a trellis of blood on the whitewashed wall
The shred of a discourse caught up in the branches
And in the grass a hand on the rotting tocs

I’m talking about a country played to the bone France of the perfumed eyes you are our image Sweet as her nights, perhaps more so And like her, wounded o France, allusive

Long ceremony to the sound of twenty drums Muffled. Nude cadavers taken for a walk in town Under the moon a cortège with sour brasses
In your wooded vales, at the instant for ploughings

Poor hand that’s going to melt! And you still leap In the grass. From a wound or from blood on the stones Who can be born, what pageboy and what angel of ivy To suffocate me? What soldier wearing your dead nails?

Me go to bed with those feet that uncurl the sea?
Beautiful tale of love; a child of the village In love with the sentry roving the beach Where the amber of my hand attracts a kid of iron!
In his torso, asleep-- of a strange kind of Creamy almond; star, o coiled little girl
--This tolling evening blood in the blue of the garden path It's of evening the naked foot striking on my lawn

That shape is the rose's and keeps you so pure Keep it up. The evening already unwarps you And you appear to me (stripped of all your garments) Tangled in your bedclothes or erect against a wall

Dare my lip at the brim of this hemstitched petal I'll shaken out each drop which is falling His milk swells my neck like a flight of doves O remains a rose a petal beaded with pearls

Prickly sea-fruits fly me your dear beams But the thin fingernail of evening will slit the bark Drink rosy tongue from these trimmings with all your might If my heart hindered in the gold of a false chignon

Capsizes anchored living without power to puke
In a sea of bile to your sex yoked I wand immobile through it with immense strides This world without kindness where you darling see me sleeping

I roll beneath the sea and your surge above Lebors its exleaves writhing with your tempasts However I shal go far away because the working sky
With the thread of the horizon in a sheet has stitched me up

I prowl hopelessly around your house My dejected whip dangles on my neck. I watch over Through the shutters your beautiful eyes those hornbeam bowers Those palaces of foliage where evening is going to die

Whistle like a young piece of trade, walk with cold eyes In the rushes your heel crushing nests of eggs Caves in the wind into gilded shells
The air of mornings in April and horsewhips the azure

But see he's not destroyed and sheds his leaves at your feet 0 you my luminous prop, of night the most fragile Star, between lace and snow of these islands Of gold your shoulders, white the finger of the almondtree

after Jean Genet
IN THE MOVIES

Out of the corner of my eyes a tear of revulsion sighs, it's the point of intersection a foot in front of me, I call it my cornea, my Muse.
I hurl myself there-- at whatever fatal flowery flourish!
flower? flower?
if that face is flourishing, it's too hot.
Well, well, there is a face there, a revine of powder and gasps, I can see it, I must caress it.
I give it one of my marine caresses since it is inferior, petulant.
And the clear water of my head pours over that face.

Flowers, Flowers.
Just because the day is as long and white as a camel you'll see my head leaning against this mess of a seat and the blood in my pants mounts to the stars as I ponder the silver square.

Flowers, Flowers,
every afternoon at one, why not caress the wind which passes from the airconditioning to my seat? as the waters underneath Times Square pour through my eyes onto the silver screen, I'm here, pale and supple as a horse-shrine.

Ushers! Ushers!
do you seek me with your lithe flashlights?
enveloping me like the controlled current of the air?
There seems to be a ghost up there, brushing off his gams and plumes.
It's a great feathered prick that impaled me in the grass.
It was an organ that announced a certain destiny.
And as the plumes flutter in the current they spell out but I don't believe my eyes, it's only a ghost's habit.
I bought a ticket so I could be alone, With the plumes,
With the ushers,
With my own prick,
and with my death written in smoke outside this theatre where I receive my mail.
Guts? my gut is full of water, like the River Jordan.

The pressure of my boredom is uplifting and cool, I feel its familiar hands on my buttocks,
And we depend on the screen for accompaniment, its mirrors
its music
because I've left everything behind but a leaf and now a dark hand lifts that from my thighs (out of the corner of my eyes a tear of revulsion slips).
No, I've never been in a cotton field in South Carolina.
My head is lost between your purple lips.
Your teeth glitter like the Aurora Borealis.

Cerise trees are plunging through my veins and not one lumberjack is drowned in my giant flesh.
This stranger collects me like a sea-story and now I am part of his marine slang.
Waves break in the theatre and flame finds a passage through the stormy straits of my lips.

In my hands a black cloud of soft winds pulses forth the error of my blood and my body, like a poem written in blackface, his flower opens and I press my face into the dahlia-like mirror whose lips press mine with the grandeur of a torrent, it is flooding the cleft of my rock-like face which burns with the anguish of a plaster beast!
I am said to have the eyes of a camelopard and the lips of an oriole, it's my movie reputation-- so now you've found my germinal spontaneity and you are my voyage to Africa.

I love your naked storms,
I contemplate you with the profound regard of a scriptwriter.
The serene horse of your forgetfulness is a crater in which I bathe the pride of my race, as we splash away the afternoon
in the movies
and in the mountains.

Reflect a moment on the flesh in which you're mired:
I'm the white heron of your darkness, I'm the ghost of a tribal chief killed in battle and I bear proudly the slit nose of your victories.

Suffer my corners to adopt a verbal blueness, for you are the sick prince of my cerise innovations, and my seriousness,
I bear you mirrors
and I kiss the silt of your porcelain fountain, dreaming midst the flamingo plumes of your penis.

Seized by flames!
seized by winds!
sea of my sex and your red domination!
(red is for my heart and for the wind of my islands) which envelops this insect, my self, and salutes your loins as the shadowy horses increase and I pale with butterfly aspirations.

Do you feel the hairs that fill my mouth like sigrettes, as moss fills the stone with longing no hands can tear away?
do you feel your sword imbedded in the legendary rock?
the repose of rivers,
the source of warriors, warriors of the stars which are my sighs and my sighs are black because my blood is black with your love, the love of the jungle for its secret pools.

We take the silver way along the rocks and with my head upon your chocolate breast the screen is again a horizon of blood.
The drapes flutter around us like cement.
In your drowning caresses I walk the sea.
I am glided with your sweat and your hair smells of herbs from which I do not care to peer.

If love is born from this projection in the golden beehive like a swan,
I love you.
I am lighting up the evening which is yours, I implore you;
and the smoke of my death will have blown away by now, as my ghosts are laid along your glittering teeth.
THANK GOD....
I WASN'T A WHORE BOY,
from a conversation

PETER ORLOVSKY: Hold it, hold it, I'm trying, I'm concentrating—just give it a second more— I'm doing my best— DECEMBER 31!
On that day— or whenever they think lovely day— everyone in this big small world will have a dream to start and vote no atom bomb's gonna fall on my little head—no— on everyone's little head.
I don't know it's going to happen but it's certain there's no harm to say it. And it would be nice if true.
ALLEN GINSBERG: Well I can just see Pravda & Time both affirming that it's harmful to have pretty wishy dreams just so you won't have to face the reality and do something about it. Whettya think of that?
P.O.--The dream force is more powerful than Pravda force—than anyone's force, is more important, powerful's the wrong word.
A.G.--In other words you think you can get away with being a lamb, and that's all you get to do.
P.O.--Well that's a little strike against your soul alien if you think the dream force won't win. Already on the page you got Kruschev winning and me losing. I mean he's right about Russia but can't I be right about just a little atom bomb? Well so far we've talked about the atom bomb and about dreams and about Germany, and mothers and a whole life left on earth that now we got to think about the expanding universe. Everybody taking big trips everywhere else free, carrying briefcases of free food.
That takes care of the Starving Problem. I guess the problem is just getting to know everybody on earth. And after you get to know everybody on earth you want to know everybody on the next earth—People like to take walks—so we all got a lot to do. Have big sexual accordions serenade everyone's heartbeat, so there's no tears of woe from out of the cock. Nothing but a big family of happy some. That's the earth called Street, and what lovely beds we're all going to visit.
A.G.--Ah, I ain't seen none in a long time.
P.O.--What'dya mean didn't I screw you up the ass like a little 13 year old girl recently? and you were on a bed. NO thirteen is too young. We'll some girls mature early A.G.--Yeah but I haven't even come with you to you in a month.
P.O.--Well I tried jorking you off the other day.
A.G.--After I begged you—and you rushed out to get the mail before I even came.
P.O.--That's not true—no mail—I rushed out to get the pictures before the store closed— I did a lot of things—and it takes so long to jork you off and you wanted to relax and have a good time and that takes a longtime—and I was begging you to hurry up—so what really happened then—A.G.--I wound up jorking off before you came back.
P.O.--What you think about when you came?
A.G.--You fucking me—and how exquisite the pain desolation of lying in bed solitary hopeless ended in Onan-wilderness, here ten years later in Tanger, after all the tender lovin's we've given to each other.
P.O.—Well thank God I didn't charge you anything—that is, I wasn't—I wasn't a whore boy.
A.G.—Yeh, well, I guess it's all lost now, I'm getting older and creepy middleage looking—I guess you get disgusted when you realize what male balled potballed being you wound up with for wife. But that's inevitable, I guess it's time we started out toward Female, or me, started—and see how that feels again—I still have that nightmare emptiness from Someday when I'm dying and I've left no Me behind, or Child—whole sisters & full sons to futurity, perpetuate this Being—Awful if we didn't even have a chance to settle down and get married & issue new Ginsbergs & Orlovskys before—when the Bomb falls & ends that whole ecstatic story—that's the last moment fantasy I was telling Gregory about—I had it in Peru when I was high on Ayahuasca—it was so real it made me vow to get married & die Papa—not even thinking of Bomb.
P.O.—Boy what a dummy paragraph.
A.G.—But that's what I mean—specific example, of widening area of consciousness—the druge-trance oped my soul and made me aware of the whole void side of my life & tenderized me to all the girls I'd ever had romance with & denied—so I'm talking about something real now that general men and women can dig—that was just my scene—everybody got their own, none shameful unless mine be called so—go More Soul of this kind is the Answer to the World Problem because there is no other answer except Soul.
P.O.—Un-hum. Now you want me to say something?
A.G.—Yup.
P.O.—I didn't want to do it, You made me queer, it had to be you Big Cocky you, but you pulled me so and then I knew I tried here to fight it I'm looking over a four leaf clover the one you adore all the time, I'm looking over your big sexy soul
A.G.—That's right you did, you always did keep telling me at the beginning you just wanted to be friends and you were afraid I was just acting nice so I could get in your ass—and now look at us—, P.O.—But now I'm a bonafide queer on the witness stand.
A.G.—Did I make that come true?
P.O.—Make it? You hypnotized it true.
A.G.—And now the dehypnotization is begun, I'm getting old and you're realizing you're no longer in my Power.
P.O.—That's why I wrote Hovl for you, so as to get you off being queer—give you something to do besides queer, I'm making a cigarette for us. But then you started writing poetry going after your mother and left me in the dust. No wonder Kerouac don't love you any more you made him go chase his mother too. And try to get me after my mother—But I was smart and took my brother, My three brothers. Besides You don't love me any more I brood too much. At least that's the big General Tag you think I do all the time, nothing but a hoody brooder. Permanent depressed brooder. Bill keep away from him, he broods. "I know what you mean man" and I think to myself, Bill says to Allen when they talk about me. And I visualize Bill immediately launches on to the vast underworld dream aperit of the russian people (that Orlovsky's russian—him—) —a brood rasn, man, that's what—ya can always tell—you see his Long hair that he tries to keep back all the time—you can always tell—it's a sure sign—they, them, Russian people. I mean Orlovsky's just like them—they don't want to go anywhere—but in their room's & think their CREATE on something with their fair flowing over there head like it was the HOLEY MOP that going to clean the world of sins. After a while Bill finally says to Allen who's silent & hoping Bill will understand him—"yeah man, it's best for you to be away from him now—I mean now—pop, bam—Bill knocks his chair over as he swings his shoulders to get up & when so doing knocks his two knee-caps together that make the sound of "come here Allen"—

A.G.—Oh, really Bill, don't wimper like that to me—I mean I'm feeling something right now—don't you realize I have to sooner or later find a girl & get married so I got a Jr!

B.B.—Take a tip from me kid & steer clear of e'm—they got poison-juices dripping all over with e'm-fish eye smell too—down right phonographs on a streched ass hole—thats where they make ya look—wise up Allen & picture ya self right—for once in a while, cant ya—?

A.G.—Gee, Bill—if ya onley let me do a collage, a cut-up-collage with ya I be so—anything Bill—come on Bill, just this one time at yr place—let me bend over with ya and put in pictures of things ya got here to—so we could work togeather—?

B.B.—Allen my boy, ya alright—now what I'm doing here is—Oh by the way have ya ever aawiced the ass of a babbon—well, I came to the amazing discovery the other day as I was bending—oh you see—quite frankly Allen you got ya got babbon marks one on each ass-hole—I mean er—checkya—ya butts & I just got to have a picture of that. It will have just amazing effects when the blue hits it—then I'll try the grey first—don't worry Allen you'll have no babbon marks when I get thru with ya—so don't worry—in fact I'll try to take yr ass away— pronto, just like that—you'll see man, I'm not fooling around—this is strictly straight———& with one mighty swiping sweep that can can be made only once between 2 men in a room together & fingers becoming rings—does Bill tear up the cut-up for the last time—the picture of them both in a room & disappear they both into the invisible to stay—

A.G.—Well then Peter Orlovsky now can understand the relation between public questions & private affairs and how you can't separate the two areas of personal activity—as they are so much in the world today, that's what's causing all the trouble, this schizophrenia between what a man knows he is, and the front he puts up to the world before a microphone TV Camera or notebook. Is that why we came back to this scene here in Tanger? Because one thing, I don't see how we can solve our world problems if we can't make heaven in our own room land. Can you comment on this.

P.O.—I know there's a lot of love to go around—& a lot of people are missing the ball—for me, I want to stop smoking & breathe some force-air in—?

A.G.—Well let's go in the room & make love again, is that the answer to the World Question?

P.O.—Yup. No because I can't give you a baby.

A.G.—I didn't want to stop coming with you just on account of that—frontal phrenal fit cranial day tomorrow. i sit thinking of many shapes of head and feel enchanted by the split skull somebody seriously gave me.

i have no job. cannot work at too many things except labor in general. would like, instead, some understanding of a fat-head's head.

this would be put to a good use, what more should it be? i will give it my total attention and
in the end.

perhaps write a paper about it.
or think of other possibilities. i often image the possible and the impossible things.

...& know an honest man in foonyoon New York, gives an honest reading according to the bumpers and the knobs there.

he can tell it it's a head at all, and has a hobby for a wife with neolithic carvings over her top...

(he also balls her once in-awhile, when the tumour is silent and gathering.)

actually, tho, ouch. my

i am in, too.
are you going to the perpetual unveiling
this week, mr. fowler;
or will you sit at home again & watch yourself happen?

"is there really anything outside at all, & if so
, is it worth messin' with?"

my body is host to a carnival of actors & the carnate word shines through my brow so i am blinding in my own sight. i am become a hundred forms of light & wave-energy & charged particles focussed on a point more intricate than microscopes can make the whole world, tuned
in on myself, imitating myself in a mirror, i have realized my possibilities, & schemed a means of exceeding them; you don't exist at all!
you noxious phantom!

amphetamine horror!... .. i murder you after you've been ultimately kind enough to make me strong & arrogant in the midst of my afflictions

i hymned thee, ate eclairs to thee, i opened my veins to thee, & was constipated every day, the civilized affliction! the subjugation of time! the annihilation of space! the adjudication of matter.

i fell asleep, trillions of "cells forgot i exist, i caught them plotting against me when i woke up & it took me hours to get in the cockpit again moving downward is the same as moving upward.

only the sequence is reversed, & it's easy to mistake one's dying for one's being born, i have no experience with these primitive centralized species, these trillions of interdependent entities. i have evolved to amoeba;
to Euglena, standing at the apex of the hourglass of known forms, & await a permutation to my own universe where I shall have preceded god.

SOUP POEM

How far thru the soup can any man swim, before he has to mount a pea & rest?
& if he swims all the way, then what?
how long can you tread soup, (trying to hover in the brothy atmosphere), hallucinating fish erect (ourselves) or birds;
the fish of the air
we're slugs to?
but dropping, sinking,
down past chunks of our own meat & sour air you'd have me reach the same old bowl?

I'll grip
the pea with teeth & tongue till everything "spoons me out!"

An Anniversary Poem, for Alan

We walked across the park in the glistening light. there were those streetlights that have wirenet around them.
and crisscross shadows on the path.
the paths were concentric circles.
i looked at st. bridget's steeples, like saying hello to frank.
i said i'm glad the spirit of romance is in print in england.
it was the first cold night. i noticed the red coat wasn't warm enough.
especially shinbones cold.
you talked about camping. i wondered what it would be like to be a boy and go cruising in the park and get done in the shadow of the johns, or in the playground by the monkey bars maybe with all those people watching. i decided i wouldn't like it.
i put my hand on your sleeve but it was the wrong kind. i wanted a rough wool sleeve. you were wearing one of those green army jacket things.
we passed the chinless lions on st. mark's place. you talked about playing the general at the muggs gallery. it was dark, i tried to think about it, but theatres are floating away from me.

words i hear all the time, seductive words. what was it about st. mark?
i can't think about horses.
i like my life.
i guess you think it could be better or something.
i like your life too, i don't care about skiing.
i hope you go skiing though. do you need cigarettes?
somebody's crutch was lying in our hallway.
i went upstairs and waited for you to come home. there is a loaf of datenut bread on the table, wrapped in waxed paper, a rubber band around it, a fat man comes in & out of the back room in his shorts. the silence is noticeable. i mean, to one who has lived for four yrs in apartments facing on a courtyard where they shout day & night, the silence is noticeable.

the children i am watching are asleep, the doorbell will ring any minute, i skim along, typing a libretto by kenneth kooh, avoiding detailed observation of my emotional state (sic), the i ching says that the superior man knows the changes of season, clothes are hanging in this kitchen, they are enormous, well, i won't wash the bedspread tomorrow or over the weekend, at least that will be something maybe I am crazy, since probably nobody else is up, at 3 a.m., eating chicken gizzards and reading Raymond Chandler after having gone thru all the mail that's hung around for the past ten years, cutting off stamps for Anna's kid's collection. I found out, anyway, that Joan O'Malley for ten years never used stamps w/ pictures, but only those purple threes (it was threes then). which goes to show you.

I have carefully avoided mention of any harpies that might still be on the firescape. I meticulously threw out old dried out rubber bands. If I can manage it I'll pull out the bed & put on a fitted sheet not that you'll notice, one way or the other Houdini

Poured, white powder on the back of a book took out my plastic funnel and honked the powder up.

Then sit down, to write before consciousness drained away. Feeling the change, the bag-like quality of ease.

This will be the last sense I make for hours.
LeRoi Jones

Letter to Elijah Muhammed

When your talking is murdered, and only very old women will think to give you flowers. When history is the homework that presses you, silently, at your dying, in your blood some briefer hatred digs long shank claws, what will it be like to be more than that? What will it be to adore the nature of your killer's affliction?

In whatever epoch of new understanding, new faiths new religious zeal. The lone saver is knowing exactly how far to trust what is real. I am tired already of being so hopelessly right.
Political Poem

Luxury, then, is a way of being ignorant, comfortably An approach to the open market can thrive, under heavy tarpaulins without being cracked by ideas.

(I have not seen the earth for years and think now possibly "dirt" is negative, positive, but clearly social. I cannot plant a seed, cannot recognize the root with clearer dent than indifference. Though I eat and shit as a natural man. (Getting up from the desk to secure a turkey sandwich and answer the phone: the poem undone undone by my station, by my station, and the bad words of Newark.) Raised up to the breach, we seek to fill for this crumbling century. The darkness of love, in whose sweating memory all error is forced.

Undone by the logic of any specific death. (Old gentlemen who still follow fires, tho are quieter and less punctual. It is a polite truth we are left with. Who are you? What are you saying? Something to be dealt with, as easily.
The noxious game of reason, saying, "No, No, you cannot feel", like my dead lecturer lamenting thru gipsies his fast suicide.
Leroi Jones

DoubleFeel

The dead are useless except the basketball players and the ones who cheered they still make it sliding across the waxed gym signaling about my legs.

The ones who trailed me in the hallways they'll pass or some who leaned in the grass poking sticks in Italian lake.

The car riders, the murderers still remain useful the girl who shove her buzzard up. The bus swerved so the driver could look into the accidental snow twenty minutes late the cops collected at the corners to wave us on where the sky and the older politicians had entered a millennium. The Sunga, growing wet fingertips and a mushy way of speaking. They tell their tales in rhyme.

The impersonators carrying their wigs in shopping bags through the cold to rub each other's jocks. Think of Stan Getz blowing for real, and moaning about Christmas.

"Blue doesn't go with green," hear that years ago guide them home through my thinking.

Lloyd does not remember his words. His hair stood all over his head. What was it he said. "Blue doesn't go with green."

Now he will not die. He wants to write letters informing the government he is poor in spirit and will not inherit the earth or the sky where it rains mistakes in his sleep which is also poor. Do a nasty dance, and stick your ass under a car. Knock a policeman through the chinamen's. Some screaming. Then walk away, the coat swinging easy at your thighs. Watch anybody. They may love you. Don't count your blessings. Pick them up.
my own silences are acute as great lesson: don't speak if you don't want to -- after a lifetime of compulsive talking i now stay silent sometimes.

i am not yet

the genre of silence but i am silent sometimes.

i am unhappy (sad) you are there, i want you here, now, in my bed, and so i think to send you warnings....

they are thinking dirty thoughts watch out for the poets they are notorious watch out for the ones that you mother they are oedipal

watch out for the scenic beauty watch out for the muslims they think they don't understand a pretty white girl watch out for the japanese they eat spoiled shark watch out for the chinese they always pay debts

watch out for big sur

watch out for the beats they don't exist any more watch out for the beatniks watch out for the weather watch out for the fleas they bite

watch out for the movie-makers they are everywhere, like poets in /55 watch out for the giants they play in candlestick park watch out for bearded jew poets you know the best already i wish i knew what magics to work you, what magics to bring you home safe, i wish i didn't realize that magic is the only efficacy, that only thru spells do any hopes work, or flashlights, or invisible carbons.

i wish i knew decently how to be discursive with you, how to lay out that which i want, need, or desire, what the necessities of our life would be besides one bed and two typewriters, how i will explain my own fetishisms, how i walk through the days the way i want to . . .

beware of my offers they will lure you

Lesson I for Charles Olson

Runs
on any dirt diamond blind man, intent on next bases, not the ball.
Fifth element: luck; said Johnny McGraw without coaching has no man an idea of position, no knowledge of ball's placing Without coaching the base runner is caught off his base the runner is kept from the plate without coaching Runs do not go up on the scoreboard runners make no advance under flies the rallies are squashed inning and inning from the first, even till the ninth The Pirates are not without coaching Neither the Yankees, both first.

summer 1954

Editor's note: the scene is a Black Mountain College baseball game. Charles Olson is coaching at third. Oppenheimer is speeding toward third eyeing for instruction from Coach Olson. Meanwhile, the O gets involved with Dan Rice in an argument about Etruscan sculpture—- Oppenheimer put out 15 feet from plate.
FOR OUR COUSINS

you simple shits i don't much care what you do with your own lustreless lives throwing rocks at children, yelling because a fucking niggah may move in next to you, but what are you doing to my life, suppose i decided to kick some ass your way because you are fucking up my life, how would you like that, that wouldn't be so good would it if a white brigade started zeroing in 5.9 mortars on your fucking houses you are scared will turn black, on your tight cunted daughters you are afraid will get laid, as if any man with a hard-on wanted one of those bourgeois bitches who thinks her cunt is a bank with deposits only and no withdrawals. what are you scared of? that this people who by elementary proof you brought here, lived off and fucked the women of, and on top of it is demonstrable physically more separated from the ape than you, might possible slip in your bed tonight and god knows what. its time you faced it, your daughter if she has any sense will love the man with the most workable cock, and might even kiss it.

simplicity we come to a stark determination:
just what it/s worth, losing sleep and hardons working our asses off in a vain pursuit, trying to pursue a trade! love is a trade, why else settle for clean shirts or an evening/s good meal, but if you won/t understand this, peace on your soul -- which I wanted to hold close to me, and whose children I wanted to build and did you imagine that man whose most unofficial act is the raising of his manhood would ever consent to less a definition? or, that, able to make paradise from bread and wine and you would find a trade denying it all?

CHANT FOR HALF THE WORLD (for LBJ)

The women as richness of liquid chocolate between their legs beneath their navels The women like their own shrinks glass curse of their angular legs 'in the way the women move' in agony in graceless floundering on the smooth dance floor of their lonely manipulations

The women in their floured eyes their skin mansions such gifts slipped over inner eyes till fur finally grows into the fake charity of the yoni

First girlchild becomes servile Second loses its birthright escutcheon Third girl has no face fourth is shadow first girlchild leads schools second becomes maker of delicate symbols third creates old specific buttons fourth is the voiceless farmer's wife

Women with their liberal blackened teeth moving on round beds above oracles under stone men as idols of themselves High priestesses of unnamable objects called miscarriages or beetroot Teeth gapped to equal each child lost Each lost child never bridged

The women breast to breast across empty across lava-strewn bitter plains facing lidless eyes of the majestic surgeons who demand they empty their wombs of the quintuplet dolls shaped like 'husband' Women offering full tests to men with infant faces who drink with mouths the violet of sleep or of healed circumcision

The women their flowing words of osasistry tennisballs stuffed into mouths pingpong balls into eye sockets volleyball up anus marbles in earcurves nostrils filled with buckshot Words falling like terrible stars from the yoni

-more-
What does she say how gesture like silk how shed skin in the burn of his piercing how bend how move between rooms like shoji Sound of brrrrrulass brrrrulissas smooth as skin under birch branches of the sauna 'to make the skin glow' or Lord Sir King Masoch robed advancing toward la marquesa Mademoiselle de Sade exchanging vows and blows

The women near men in thick dance forgetting honey in joints in hollow of bones of cunt eyes furred away from how it was with limbs not wooden but la belle sauvage The forgetting forgotten across inflamed glass dancefloors Laughter a bite of betel feathmarks hair into oiled peaks as foretold away from false minuets away from degradation of boot lingam shined and polished beyond identification

Man reach for me i am firm open i am waiting in the dark place which has all secrets i have have lust deep as you can reach But take off that skin that hair shirt choose between forks of tongue or is it a forked prick you speak to me with

The women as kosmotica wombs tipped crazily toward the source light careening toward the meteorite of fuck Words of the recent typical insane poet gone into seed and fat lyrics behaving like a giant bearded night seed which refutes its genes assaying day Saying moon is man sun is a woman Ah better to be content as bucolic barley than to outguess the sex of planets

Tragedies of women their toothlessness having had the womb wormed like sick kits having little to do but notice how hills recall flesh as it might have been Having been bound from infancy to boards which at other times held their own roast flesh ready for the obsidian knives

The accurate synaptic traceries prohibited turned instead into lightning of film overexposed and comically brilliant Position of the woman in relation to a tree

If you do it against a tree and it is with love it is as valid as between silk coverlets he once told his classroom of Vassarites and was fired for illuminating fifty gates Or Agnes de Mille leaping in a dark church given over now to bowings and deep genuflections antithesis of the good fuck or dance All the women gone into black for a pope trained to despise half of humanity

The women walking with eyes turned inward their fine navels cabbages of joy along streets paved with vegetables The women moving seeded and buttered offering packaged suicides to young men harnesses cut from the Fallopian tubes tied with the deaths of their fathers

The rich women of animalskins waists slanted in memory of wellsprings stained with sun with come with breastmilk The women coppered and grafted into love reaching smiling toward the lingam The women with blood with liquid chocolate shrinking letting loose hand and hair The women walking as memory of men no sacrificing, the people childish & insulting, goes in his eyes, the Big Ursa goes in his eyes from star to star to star 6 times before coming back very high

Time? Time? asked the great abstract of the Cup ... going thru down through the eyes from the arrows

Watching Elements Transfer Time the great Cup lifts the Flame that is MILK

my mouth lifts the flame that is the speaking of Action

the Head of my Eyes

is the flame of your levelling with my incomplete face in the body of the mountain

GOBBLED BY

THREE BEARS!
3 POEMS

i lie long mornings
and sample the bird roosting in my tangle called hair left there by hands to confuse my awaking
i am reminded of your pillow and the smell it caught from you

weed that hides rock white deceiving chalk could crumble under dead pine i would risk those cliffs down to sea white first my eyes have greeted you my tongue and lips felt your chalk white no kiss that touch
i have come from algier my son
the heat is here still with us where boats stop my son dead in white cunt sand could scream white dust i can smell your scream marseille

"she must run sleeping down roads of skin" neruda

i feel my body covered with dust youeller my odor of wetness dragging down wooden steps my dirty windows i hear my tomorrow coming back to look on while i stand
to go underground myself a hidden floor to lie on

A Bouquet of Fuckyou's

The New York Scene -

Having cast up to the present a slightly jaundiced eye on the more general examples of rectal film attending in "our culture", we have been resulting delinquently deploring the advent of purple-ass'd baboons---

Fuck you to Creepy Rockefeller and the colors of the New York state legislature for those nazi-style "no-knock" a "stop-a-frisk" laws -- current studies in unconstitutionality! dung stains on the common law! Creep-freak Rockefeller for president!

UP with fascism!

Fuck you to P.A.T. -- thinly veneered racists -- middle class niggers / your recent demonstrations filled fair-minded Americans with nausea a disgust!

Turn your daughters loose in the FUCK MACHINE!

you backward creeps!

Fuck you to Police Commissioner Murphy & his SS style "clean-up the city" rump -- OK murphys! leave alone the groovers & wailers in NYC! leave all the delicate Times Square petit-rolls alone you creep turd in the Universe! Clean up thy own scene, freaks, everyman will clean up his own!

Fuck you to Robert Moses -- builder of brass cocks of sodum -- stone murder of souls / granite heart/rock / crunch--mangle,jaw-gut/. Visual Nightmares, puke Towers, & Totalitarian Garbage spew out of your brain, you hateful creep!

EDITOR'S NOTE: It must be shirked that Mr. Barr left out Funn of the prosecutors office, Barlowe of the dept of licenses, and many many other fascists. Grope for Peace! "Death is no worse than a hamburger stand!"
